ASSISTANT SECRETARY

George
Dear Mr. Bush:

There has been growing interest on the part of government agencies and the private sector in the rapidly expanding activities of multinational financial institutions operating in the Middle East. The Treasury Department has assembled considerable information on these institutions because of its responsibilities in the area of international financial flows.

We have now compiled all of the available data in a special report entitled "Middle Eastern Multinational Financial Institutions", a copy of which I enclose for your information. Your staff may obtain additional copies from the Treasury's Office of Developing Nations. I think you will agree that this report will help meet the need for comprehensive and reliable information on this important group of investment and development institutions utilizing funds primarily from the Middle East oil-producing countries.

Sincerely yours,

Gerald L. Parsky
